

From the desk of
Rev. Mario Bergner

Dear Ministering Friend:

This year, thousands of people struggling with homosexuality will pass through the doors of a church. Depending on the church's response, they will either be led closer to Christ or pushed farther away.

I was once one of those people attending church. I wrestled silently with the tension between my homosexual feelings and my Christian faith. I wanted help but didn't seem to find it.

The full story of how God spoke to my heart is told on the video I hope you will see. But I want you to know that a huge part of my deliverance from homosexuality came only after I found a church family. It was through the powerful combination of the Holy Spirit and a loving, biblical, Spirit-filled church that God granted me full healing—physical, spiritual and psychological. Today, by God's grace, I am married and the father of four children.

My prayer is that your church will be one of those offering the healing available through the cross of Jesus Christ and the power of the Holy Spirit. In the seminar, "Pastoral Response to a Sexually Broken World," I and two other people gave you everything we know to equip you to do just that. May God bless His work through you.

Sincerely,

Rev. Mario Bergner
